I am proud to present highlights of 2017-2018, including some of the programs and resources created through new initiatives and partnerships that will provide increased access to learning opportunities for Providence residents:

- PCL eliminated fines on all youth materials, erasing a significant barrier to borrowing books and other resources for pleasure and learning;
- Through our partnership in the PVD Young Makers Initiative (page 5), PCL has unleashed creativity and industry among kids and teens in every neighborhood;
- The Passport to Summer Learning, in conjunction with our Mobile Library and Summer Reading Program (page 4), continues to provide encouragement for all students to read and learn over the summer, wherever they may be;
- New mini-libraries (page 4), installed by PCL in six Providence Recreation Centers, will provide year-round access to high-quality library materials outside of school;
- Through our collaboration with the City of Providence, we are thrilled that the new municipal ID (page 7) will serve as a library card and encourage holders to visit the library and to connect to all of the free services and resources we provide.

As PCL looks forward to its tenth birthday, the Library remains steadfast in its mission to adapt to the ever-evolving needs of Providence residents, both inside and outside our walls.

I thank the Mayor and City Council for their continuing support, Providence Public Schools for their enthusiastic collaboration, as well as generous funders, such as the Champlin Foundation, which recently gave PCL a generous grant of $544,800 to renovate the exterior of Knight Memorial Library.

I applaud the PCL staff who support and enrich the lives of our patrons on a daily basis. These talented people, under the leadership of new Library Director, Cheryl Space, will implement the goals of PCL’s new strategic plan. The future is in capable hands!
Cultivating Meaningful Partnerships

Providence Public Schools, the Mayor and the City of Providence, Providence Public Library and United Way of Rhode Island are some of the partners that help PCL meet the literacy and learning needs of a diverse population.

The Big Red Bus

Thanks to a grant from United Way of RI, PCL's Mobile Library once again transported books, technology and WiFi, life-sized games, arts and craft activities, shade tents and outdoor furniture to ten neighborhood schools and five Recreation Centers in Providence, delivering summer learning to students and families, right to their doorsteps.

Fighting the Summer Slide in 2017

- 662 summer reading programs at PCL locations
- 110 outreach programs at the Mobile Library
- 16,500 reading hours recorded by students
- 903 PPSD students earned stamps for their Passports to Summer Learning
- 51% of participants who read for 20 minutes a day over the summer exceeded their expected growth in reading skills, as compared to the 41% who read for less time – a significant gain.

LEFT A new mini-library at Joslin Recreation Center—one of six installed at Providence Rec Centers—encourages year-round reading by providing access to high-quality, diverse books, games and magazines, made possible by Better World Books.

PVD Young Makers launched in Spring 2018, is a collaboration between the City of Providence, FabNewport, Providence Community Library, Providence Public Library, Rhode Island Museum of Science and Art, and Young Voices. Assisted by FabNewport and PCL staff, kids immerse themselves in the creative process and receive badges as proof of new skills acquired using a vinyl cutter, laser cutter, sewing machine, 3D printer, Dash robot and heat press.

Virtual Providence trains teens to create immersive videos of educational and cultural experiences associated with the summer reading program and Passport to Summer Learning. Kids who can't travel to the library, Zoo or the State House can enjoy a virtual trip through a VR headset! The project is supported by a Studio Rhode Next Generation Library Challenge grant and funds from the Zennovation Fund of United Way of Rhode Island.

More than Half of Adult Learners in RI are Latino and Language Courses are in Great Demand

In 2017-2018, 150 students attended our free English for Speakers of Other Languages (ESOL) classes. Thirteen students completed their Spanish-language GED certificates, with many more on the way to success. Additionally, PCL’s Learn Spanish classes were filled to capacity.

Supporting Small Businesses, Job Seekers, and Financial Literacy

Working with the Office of Diversity, Equity and Opportunity (ODEO) and the Rhode Island Commerce Association, PCL presented workshops for new and growing businesses about how to obtain minority business certifications and business micro-loans. PCL partnered with Providence Public Library to bring the Workforce Development Learning Lounge to South Providence, providing digital assistance to adults looking to acquire skills, ranging from online job search to basic computer use to reading, writing, and math. PCL’s Money Smart workshops, sponsored by Santander Bank, were taught by local experts, and tackled a range of personal money management themes during National Financial Literacy Month.

Rosario Pren, who has 3 children, 7 grandchildren, and 3 great grandchildren, gave an inspiring talk at PCL’s GED graduation ceremony about the fact that it’s never too late to accomplish anything - no matter your age, culture, or circumstances!

A book club meets at Mount Pleasant. Our book clubs are a popular and informal way to make new friends, expand knowledge and experience other perspectives.

An ESOL class celebrates another great year of learning at Knight Memorial.

Thank you, Supporters of Providence Community Library

PCL proudly acknowledges all donations made July 1, 2017 – June 30, 2018. Every dollar we receive means a lot and helps provide more programs and services, access to technology and free arts and cultural events. A donation to PCL is a donation to the future of Providence.
